Set in a hamlet of just 5 properties, Whinney Haw Barn is a beautifully presented 5-bedroom barn conversion with versatile accommodation arranged over three floors. The property was sympathetically converted in 2006 and has undergone subsequent upgrades to provide generous living accommodation, offering both the character and charm of a converted barn.

Occupying an elevated position within the Yorkshire Dales National Park, the property enjoys breath taking and far reaching views across rolling countryside towards the Howgill Fells and beyond. This peaceful rural setting offers the perfect balance of privacy and accessibility. Situated just a short drive from the sought-after Book Town of Sedbergh, all amenities required for everyday use are on hand. For those looking to travel further afield, Junction 37 of the M6 is approximately 5 minutes drive away. Set within the Yorkshire Dales National Park, there is some stunning scenery to be enjoyed from the doorstep, and the property is ideal for those with outdoor interests. For the family market, the property sits in the catchment of excellent local schooling, both primary and secondary, including the highly renowned Sedbergh School.

Approached through the gardens, a welcoming entrance hall sits at the centre of the home and provides access to three well-proportioned bedrooms, one being an ensuite, on the ground floor. This makes it an ideal level for guests, older family members, or those seeking flexible living arrangements. The ground floor accommodation is complemented by a shower room and separate utility area, giving access to the rear.

The first floor is dedicated to living space, making the most of the natural light and spectacular rural views. A stunning kitchen / dining space expands to over 19ft and forms the heart of the home. Being an "L" shaped space, this provides ample storage and cooking area, as well as being a social space for entertaining and family time. With two access points, this has an excellent flow from the central landing area.

A spacious lounge, set around a feature wood burning stove, provides a great space for relaxation. With large windows framing the surrounding landscape, and access to the Juliet balcony, this is a great space for everyday living.

The accommodation continues to the second floor, where there is a principal bedroom suite, complete with extensive fitted wardrobes and an ensuite bathroom comprising WC, wash hand basin, bath and large walk in shower. There is a further double bedroom which shares the ensuite bathroom facilities as a Jack and Jill bathroom, providing additional bedroom accommodation, or could be used as a home office.

Outside, the property forms part of the attractive barn conversion development within the rural parish of Firbank. The elevated setting of the property provides uninterrupted views over the Lune Valley and Howgill Fells, creating an ever-changing backdrop throughout the seasons. The gardens are predominantly laid to lawn, with flowering borders and mature shrubbery offering a generous level of privacy. A central stone path conveniently leads from the parking area to the front entrance. Beyond, there is a garage building, which benefits from a useful mezzanine level for additional storage. In front of the garage, can be found additional parking, complementing the property.

Enjoying a corner plot, the property has a larger than average garden, which is ideal as a family residence or for those looking for a quiet peaceful setting with stunning views. Whether it is access, location or space that you are looking for, this property has it all.
